Bonneauville Wedding and Bridal Party Off on a Honeymoon Trip to Europe.

March-Boose - Gobrecht-March.—At the residence of Rev. W. R. Gobrecht, pastor of the Reformed Church of Chambersburg, a double wedding was performed in which three Adams county residents were principals on Thursday, June 29. Geo. D. March, of Gettysburg, was married to Miss Madeleine L. Boose, of Littlestown, and Earl J. Gobrecht, of Hanover, wedded Miss Beulah M. March, of East Berlin. The couples acted as attendants for each other. The double ring ceremony was used. The newlyweds went on a wedding trip of 1500 miles by motor through New York State. Mr. and Mrs. Gobrecht will reside in Hanover while Mr. and Mrs. March will make their home in Gettysburg. Mr. March and Mrs. Gobrecht are children of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. March, of East Berlin. Mrs. March is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Boose, of near Littlestown. Mr. Gobrecht's parents are Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Gobrecht, of Hanover. Rev. Mr. Gobrecht, who performed the ceremony, is his cousin. Mr. March is general office man at the Gettysburg Panel Company and Mr. Gobrecht is an electrical contractor in Hanover.

Chrimer, of Bonneauville, was married to Dr. Frank Marino, of Baltimore, July 4th, at 6 o'clock at a nuptial mass at St. Joseph's Church, Bonneauville. Father Roger Smith, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a cousin of the bride, assisted by Father M. Scanlon, conducted the mass. Mr. and Mrs. Marino were attended by Charles and Mary Chrimer, brother and sister of the bride. Dr. Marino was formerly superintendent of St. Joseph's Hospital in Baltimore. He resigned his position a month ago and is now practicing surgery in Baltimore. Miss Chrimer is a graduate nurse of the same hospital and has been one of the staff of nurses there for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Marino have gone to Atlantic City for a short visit after which they will sail from New York City on Saturday to visit Italy and the principal cities of Europe. Conewago Life Saving Boxes.

Twenty-two life saving boxes are being erected at convenient points on both sides of the Conewago Creek from Waldheim to the Forks by members of Conewago Council of Boy Scouts.

It consists of a white box with glass front, enclosing a life-buoy attached to about 100 feet of rope. The intention of the arrangement being that in case of accident in the water the glass can be broken and the buoy hurled to the one in distress who can then be brought safely to shore.

The safety-boxes will be maintained by the Boy Scouts during the summer season, and is not only a rational plan to prevent drowning but the best means yet proposed for the safety of all swimmers at this popular fresh water resort.

In order to enable each box to be found after dark with the least trouble, Boy Scouts will be assigned nightly to light a small lamp with red lens which will be placed on each box.

The Boy Scouts are receiving subscriptions from the permanent campers and others interested, to pay for the life-buoys.

The motto of the Scouts, "Do a good turn daily," is thus made a most useful and practical one, which all the campers in those parts will appreciate more as time goes by.

Crushed to Death Under Horse.

Margaret Butler, a nine-year old colored girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Butler, was killed in an accident last Thursday. The Butler family lived just beyond Mason and Dixon's line on the Maryland side, along the Emmitsburg road. Margaret with a companion started for the home of a sister on the other side of Emmitsburg. Philip Hoffman, of this place, driving toward Emmitsburg, offered the girls a lift in the buggy, being its only occupant. They accepted and a point was reached near the destination of the girls on the other side of Emmitsburg when an automobile frightened the horse. The animal fell with its weight on the chest of the little girl, breaking every rib in her body and death resulted almost instantly. The other girl was uninjured and Mr. Hoffman received a badly bruised shoulder.

During the battle of Gettysburg Mrs. Guilioma, who was then a single lady, was living with the family of a Seminary professor in Gettysburg by the name of Schaeffer. During the battle the home of the professor was turned into a hospital and the lady helped care for the wounded, caring for Gen. Fairchild, of the Second Wisconsin Regiment. She had the honor of serving Gen. Meade, and for two days she baked light cakes for the soldiers, using a barrel of flour in that time. When the battle was over she was taken ill with black fever and was removed to her home near Heidlersburg, and it was thought for a time she would not recover. Soon after she removed to Canton, where meeting her husband, residing in that city ever since.

MORE CONCRETE STREETS

TOWN COUNCIL PASSED ORDINANCE FOR FOUR BLOCKS.

Two on Hanover Street and Two on Washington Street, and Residents Largely for Them.

On Monday evening the Town Council passed an ordinance to provide for the building of two blocks of concrete road 18 feet wide on Hanover street from East Liberty street eastward and two blocks on Washington street from the Reading depot southward. Two-thirds of the cost will be assessed upon abutting property. On first block of Hanover street all property owners but one signed, on second block fourteen of the twenty signed. On first block on Washington street four of the six property owners signed, and on second block all signed. Absence of some of the property owners prevented the obtaining of signatures of the nine citizens on the four blocks who did not sign. The ordinance was passed by votes of all councilmen present.

The lowest bid for concrete paving recently submitted to the council was $345 a square yard for more than 1500 square yards and was made by M. and T. E. Farrel. The total paving of the four squares would amount to 3898 square yards and cost $13,448. Two-thirds of this or $8,965 would be paid by the property owners and $4,483 by the borough.

Rev. A. B. Miller asked for pavement on Water street and matter was ordered to be taken up with property owners about building the same.

The following resolution was unanimously passed eliminating the dangerous crossing at West Confederate avenue with Lincoln Highway. Resolved by the Burgess and Borough Council of the Borough of Gettysburg, Adams County, Pennsylvania:

That in order to relieve the dangerous condition at the intersection of W. Confederate Ave. and Lincoln Highway in said borough, the kind and generous offer of Dr. J. A. Singmaster and Colonel E. B. Cope be accepted so that the stone wall on the eastern side of said avenue may be removed approximately thirty feet eastwardly.

That the ground thus vacated and opened, be taken and considered as land donated by the Theological Seminary to the Borough for street purposes, and that the Borough take and hold the same for street and highway purposes.

That the Borough be not responsible for any costs or damages by reason of the removal of said stone wall nor the acceptance of said land, but that the Borough will place stone on said vacated land and hereafter keep it in repair as an ordinary Borough street.

Resolved that the Borough of Gettysburg appreciate the unselfish efforts and the public spirit shown by Dr. J. A. Singmaster and Colonel E. B. Cope, and that a copy of this resolution be sent each of them.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION

REVIEWED BY U. S. SENATOR
PAT HARRISON.

Many Reasons Why Country Will Repudiate Republican Party This Year on Record Made.

United States Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, the brilliant Democratic orator, was recently asked by the New York Times about Republican chances at the polls this year and gave many and good reasons for his views. The exact question put to him was:

"Is it true that the Republican party has failed to keep its promises to the country, and if this is so what in your opinion will be the result of the election next November?"

Senator Harrison, answering this question, said:

"The present political trend is unquestionably with the Democratic party. If it should continue, and every indication is that it will, the large majority now held by the Republican party in the House will be wiped out and the twenty-four majority in the Senate appreciably reduced. The American people have every reason to want a change and no excuse to do otherwise. A political party, in order to survive, must not only be founded upon certain fixed principles, but it must adhere to those principles and reconcile its policies to them.

"The Republican party under present leadership has forgotten the principles upon which it was founded and become a party of hypocrisy and deceit. No person can repudiate his obligations and ignore his promises and maintain the respect of his fellows and the confidence of the community in which he lives. Neither can a political party repudiate its campaign pledges and party obligations and maintain the confidence of the people.

"A political party may fail to accomplish all the things promised in its platform, but it cannot excuse itself unless it makes an honest effort toward carrying out those promises. If it sincerely attempts to make good and fails, then no odium attaches, but when a party deliberately does the opposite to what it has promised it is deserving of the strongest censure and most pronounced condemnation of the people.

"In the case of the present Republican Administration its record lies in a wreckage of broken promises and repudiated pledges. Instead of simplifying and reducing taxes as this Administration had promised, it has made the system more complicated and piled the taxes higher. Instead of reorganizing the bureaus of the Government along the line of economy and efficiency, according to their expressed promise, they have failed and the commission appointed under the mandate of the Congress to perform this service has had but one meeting since the 6th day of April, 1921, and has never had presented to it a single suggestion by any of the departmental heads of this Administration.

"In the matter of reorganization, the commission has exploited through the press its many alleged achievements, and yet, as the minority member of the commission representing the Senate, I say it has accomplished nothing, but has in this instance, as in practically everything else, delayed, vacillated and failed. This failure to act has met with the unqualified approval of the President.

"The promise to reduce the high cost of living has not only been forgotten, but this Administration has lent every effort toward adding to the burdens of the consumers and increasing the cost of living. Of the 3,746 bills introduced in the Senate during this Congress and of the 12,157 in the House, not one of them that tends to reduce the high cost of living has been enacted into law. The increased tariffs on bread and meat and sugar and clothing and every food article that goes upon the breakfast table and every necessity that goes upon the back, as written in the emergency tariff law and reincorporated in the pending obnoxious tariff measure, were intended to increase the price of those necessities to the consumers. When the present tariff measure becomes a law, experts agree that the cost of living will be increased 50 per cent. There never was such a flagrant betrayal of party promises, such a complete failure to solve present day problems. Not only have they attempted to increase the cost of living and add to the present unbearable living costs, but this Administration has given encouragement to every effort to reduce the wages of the wage earner and increase the profits of the conscienceless gouger. Labor has been ignored in its every appeal, either in maintaining reasonable wages or in settling disputes.

"This Administration promised to maintain prosperity, open up foreign markets, add to our balance of trade and prevent unemployment. Through its narrow policy of ostracism in foreign relations, in trade and in commerce, foreign markets have been closed to our surplus products; factories have shut down; unemployment has increased, and business uncertainty and confusion pervades the land.

"This Administration promised relief to the soldiers and has changed and shifted its position so often that the soldier has lost hope of obtaining the promised relief, and the business interests are disgusted with the Administration's antics. Dishonest and selfish big business was never more firmly entrenched and the rights of honest business—whether large or small—never so greatly threatened.

"Farmers are disappointed because they now realize they have been hoodwinked and deceived. They have seen the prices of their farm products and their farm values depreciating through the isolated policy of the present Administration of erecting tariff walls against the trade and commerce of other countries, thereby causing retaliation by them against the purchase of our surplus farm and manufactured products.

The intelligent farmer has come to realize that his prosperity, as well as that of this country, depends upon the sale of his surplus crop abroad. He knows that we are unable to consume the products raised in America and that unless the surplus is sold abroad at reasonable prices there must inevitably be a depreciation in values. They have seen our magnificent trade with foreign countries, built up under the last Democratic Administration, dwindle away, and they know that it came about through the narrow, provincial and unwise policy of the present Administration.

"Honest business has lost faith in the Republican Administration, because it knows that dishonest business, through its corrupt campaign contributions, obtains special privileges that work inequalities and injuries to those who would conduct it in an open and fair manner.

"Labor has no confidence in this Administration because it knows the present reactionary leadership is allied with those who would injure it. They know there is not a sympathetic cord in any bureau of this Administration for the man who labors—whether he be in work shop, mine or counting house, on farm, ranch or railroad. The soldiers are disgusted with this Administration because of its doubtful, uncertain, vacillating attitude toward them.

"The coming November election will be the first opportunity the American people, as a whole, will have to right the wrong of two years ago, and they will, in most unmistakable language, show their disapproval of the work of the present Republican Congress.

"They cannot and will not endorse the corrupt expenditures of large sums to buy elections. They cannot and will not endorse a party that is without leadership—that has made a miserable failure of its opportunities, and which to-day is out of sympathy with the progressive sentiment of America."

From the Farm Bureau Apples.

Now that the June drop is over, apple growers will do well to start thinning those trees that are set heavily to fruit. In the case of winter varieties, a light thinning may be made for the present and the first picking of this fruit in September will then serve as the second thinning. This first fall picking can often be sold to advantage, especially to export trade.

The grower who takes time now to locate his market and lays plans for the sale of his fall and winter crop of apples will be a few jumps ahead of the one who neglects to make any plans for the marketing of his product. Timely preparation will enable the grower to take advantage of any unusual or unexpected opportunities during the marketing season. The next few weeks is a good time to look ahead and see that all the requirements of harvesting, packing and selling are fully met. Packages should soon be placed at the farm so that a large enough supply is on hand for the season of sales.

A serious problem that confronts

Peck Spuds and Asks for Senate Vote

From spuds to Senate is quite some hurdle, but the confident Mrs. Annie D. Olson, of Minnesota, is not afraid to pose in kitchen frock in asking the voters of the state to send her to the U. S. Senate in place of Frank B. Kellogg, the present Republican Senator. Mrs. Olson does not let her campaign interfere with housework, as one wide awake photographer found when he called at the home. Political wisecracks say Mrs. Olson is piling up hundreds of votes in her campaign.

Woman in Fight for Senate.

Spending less than $600 for her campaign, Mrs. Peter Olson has been nominated on the Democratic ticket for the United States Senate from Minnesota. She is the first woman candidate to be nominated by a major party for a seat in the upper house. Mrs. Anna Dickie Olson, as she is called on her petition, will oppose Senator Frank B. Kellogg, who was renominated on the Republican ticket.

Mrs. Olson visited nearly forty towns in every section of the State, traveling in a Ford given her by her friends. Most of the time she was her own chauffeur. Throughout the fall campaign, however, her husband and fourteen year old daughter, Mary, will give her assistance. Both were prevented from taking a very active part in the primary campaign because of school work. Mr. Olson is superintendent of schools in Cloquet and Mary is a student. They are both enthusiastic over Mrs. Olson's success.

"Now that I am nominated," said Mrs. Olson in an interview, "I will do the best I can for the party throughout the fall campaign. My one desire is to serve the people of the State who nominated me." Four years ago Mrs. Olson came into public notice when she took up the cause of girls through the agency of women's clubs. In 1918 she was president of the women's clubs of the eighth Minnesota district and later was named vice president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs.

Explaining her party affiliations, she says she was just "born a Democrat." She believes that politics and housework for women is as normal as civic activities in addition to a vocation for men.

Mrs. Olson won the nomination over two male opponents with a lead of 4,000 or more votes over her nearest rival.

Born in Leseuer county, Minn., thirty-six years ago, Mrs. Olson comes from a family of pioneers. Raised on a farm where she lived until she was married, she traveled three miles each day to reach the high school she attended for her early education.

Mrs. Olson is an advocate of prohibition and was the woman member from Minnesota of the national Democratic Committee.

Big Apple Crop.

In spite of all the reports of great damage done by frosts Pennsylvania will have a 10,000,000 bushel apple crop after all. The State Department of Agriculture's statistical bureau estimates from its reports that the crop will be over two-thirds of the normal yield.

Last year the yield was cut to pieces by the "Easter freeze" and 1,766,000 bushels formed the yield against 16,454,000 in 1920, the banner year. Prospects for this year are far better than 9,500,000 bushels. The three-year average is given as 7,911,000 bushels.

The peach prospects are for 877,000 bushels, or almost half of the normal but this will be better than last year when only 265,000 bushels were had.

THE BIG APPLE CORPORATION

THE C. H. MUSSELMAN COMPANY INCORPORATED.

A Brief Story of the Company, and the New Officers of the Incorporation.

The C. H. Musselman Canning Company has been incorporated with an approximate capital of $600,000. While called a company for the past fifteen years, the business was really that of C. H. Musselman, of Biglerville, who moved to the county in 1907 and had a previous experience in the canning business. He came here when the county was beginning to get into its commercial orchard stride. The plant at Biglerville was first built and has been added to and in 1912 the Gardner plant was added and both plants have been successfully operated by C. H. Musselman.

Within the past two years a large plant at Innwood, W. Va., has been developed, the three plants being the largest apple canning industry in the United States.

In addition to canning apples, the C. H. Musselman Company manufactures concentrated cider, drinking cider, vinegar and dried apple pomace. The three plants have a capacity of a half million bushels of apples in a single season. Two vinegar plants are being built which will have an annual capacity of one million gallons.

The Innwood plant, W. Va., is the largest and most modernly equipped apple plant in the east. It is a one story structure 64 feet wide and 57 feet long. In addition to the main factory, there is a power house, cider mill, dry house and vinegar plant. The buildings are built of brick, with fire walls and doors, steel window frames and sash and built to provide light and ventilation.

The corporation formed will take over the three plants and three large fruit farms in apples in this county and the organization was completed recently in electing as president C. H. Musselman, vice president, E. A. Meyer; vice president, J. D. Miller, Elk Lick, Pa., secretary and treasurer, J. N. Burkhardt, Newville, Pa., sales manager. The directors are: C. H. Musselman, E. A. Meyer, J. D. Miller, J. N. Burkhardt and Mrs. C. H. Musselman.

C. H. Musselman, president of the new company, is well known throughout the county. He is the President of the First National Bank of Gettysburg. In the period of fifteen years Mr. Musselman has witnessed the rapid growth of the apple business from a few thousand dollars to a place where it represents to the county in years of plenty more than a million dollars and in this time the Adams county apple has won a place at the top of the pile second to none. E. A. Meyer, vice president, was born near Canton, Ohio. He is an alumnus of Goshen College, having been graduated there with the class of 1920. He has been employed by Mr. Musselman for two years.

J. D. Miller, secretary and treasurer, comes to the company from the Citizens' State Bank, of Elk Lick, Pa., where he served as cashier. He has been engaged in various business enterprises in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

J. N. Burkhardt, sales manager, is an alumnus of Pennsylvania State College. For fifteen years he has been salesman and district sales manager for the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company.

New Movie Regulations.

The educational movie in Pennsylvania starts on a new basis after Sept. 1, 1922. The rules of Commissioner of Labor and Industry will revolutionize the exhibition of motion pictures in schools, churches and auditoriums throughout the State. The object is safety of life against the hazards of film dangerously exposed. Two types of motion picture film are distinguished in the rules. One is the flammable (nitro-cellulose) variety and the other is the slow burning (acetate-cellulose) type. The manufacturers of safety projectors maintained their machines were fool-proof and it was not necessary to discriminate, but the insurance authorities held another view. They think the only film that is approximately safe in these machines is the slow burning kind. If the flammable film is used, they contend, then a fire-proof booth must be used the same as in theatres. This contention was accepted by the members of the Industrial Board in the final draft.

Three methods of extending the jurisdiction of the Department of Labor and Industry in the enforcement of the regulations are provided. One is the approval of all motion picture projectors. The other two are the issuance of permits first for operators and second for use of buildings.

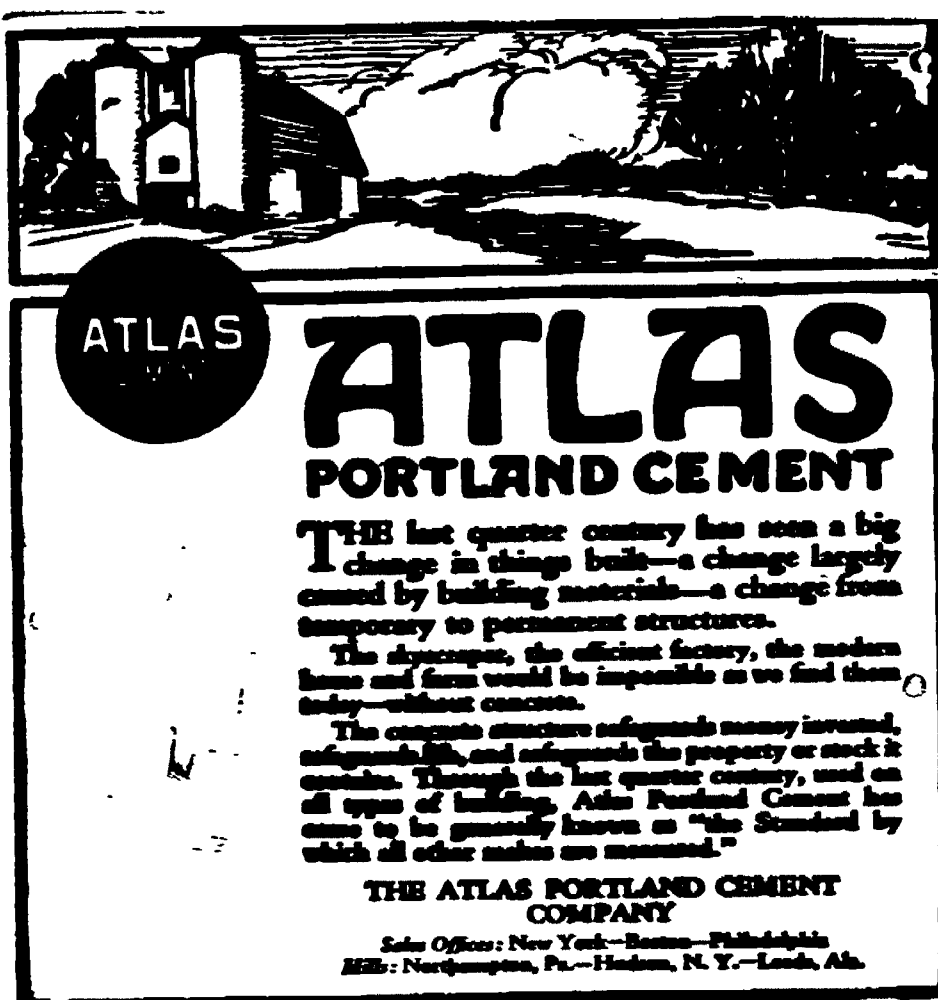

In approving machines, the conditions "for use with slow-burning film only," or "for use with flammable and slow-burning film" will be specified. In distributing permits, application is made to the Industrial Board, examination into the qualifications of the applicant to handle the type of machine specified is held, and without any charge the permits are granted upon approval. They may be held without renewal for one year.

Two types of buildings are recognized in the permits for their use in exhibitions of this character. If there is a fire-proof booth of the approved type in the building flammable film may be shown but if not then only slow-burning film may be used.

ATLAS PORTLAND CEMENT

THE last quarter century has seen a big change in things built—a change largely caused by building materials—a change from temporary to permanent structures.

The skyscraper, the efficient factory, the modern home and farm would be impossible as we find them today—without concrete.

The concrete structure safeguards money invested, safeguards life, and safeguards the property or stock it contains. Through the last quarter century, and on all types of buildings, Atlas Portland Cement has come to be generally known as "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."

GO NO FARTHER.

The Evidence is at Your Door.

Gettysburg proof is what you want and the statement of this highly respected resident will banish all doubt:

Charles Rosensteel, prop. blacksmith shop, 315 S. Washington St., Gettysburg, says, "I am of the opinion that there is no better kidney remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. I am a blacksmith and I believe that the heavy work I did was the cause of my kidney trouble. My kidneys were very sore and there were times when they felt like lumps of lead pressing against me. Darting pains bothered me when I bent over to place a shoe. My back was often stiff and lame, but the main trouble was with my kidneys. The kidney secretions seemed to be filled with a heavy sandy-like substance and were too scanty in passage. I was pretty much out of fix when I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a couple of boxes of Doan's and by the time I had used them, my back was all right. The kidney secretions were cleared up and the soreness left my kidneys. I was fixed up in a first-class way. Doan's are, in my opinion, a great kidney remedy."
